Introduction

The name of my blog is ameer's la liga football blog, the blog is about two famous football club rivalry, the clubs are FC Barcelona and real madrid there two clubs are the biggest clubs in the world

So that's why people talk about them a lot, they should be frequent updates every day in the home page of the blog. The history of the two clubs were given.

The updates talk the two clubs recent news.

And there is a button in which the users can click on which clubs they want to blog about

There is also a bit of history about the league the two clubs play in. example like when the league is founded and how many teams it contains. I also added a small history about the two clubs

The is a click button in the home page that the users can use to go to the next page.

And there is also a previous and home button.

In the blogs pages users can add, delete and edit blogs

2. Software design

The first design that was made was the home page,

As you can see below that I made the background light blue because is easier so see clearly

LA LIGA FOOTBALL BLOG
Spanish La Liga history The 1930s, Although Barcelona won the very first Liga in 1929 and Real Madrid won their first titles in 1932 and 1933, it was Athletic Bilbao that set the early pace winning Primera División in 1930, 1931, 1934 and 1936 Primera División was suspended during the Spanish Civil War.
barcelona
FC Barcelona, also known simply as Barcelona and familiarly as Barça, is based in Barcelona, Catalonia, Spain. The team was founded in 1899 by a group of Swiss, English and Spanish footballers led by Joan Gamper The history of super Barcelona has often been political.
Real madrid
On this day in 1902, the Madrid Foot Ball Club is founded by a group of fans in Madrid, Spain. Later known as Real Madrid, the club would become the most successful European football (soccer) franchise of the 20th century.

Use you can also see the text is block because it will be more visible.

In the login page you can see the names of the two clubs

I added a link to the names, the link will take you to the blogs about the club

BARÇA 1, ATLETI 0, AKA "ATLETI GOT ATLETI'D"

Even after having watched it, it was bewildering. It was Messi. A team played crap for 85 minutes, then its talisman came on and everything changed

ANDRE GOMES AND 'FAILURE'

Alba is, on form, the best LB in the world right now, at both ends of the pitch, from assists to defensive interventions: Rakitic and Paulinhodid exactly what they were supposed to, as both had excellent matches, the former in a key spot as he subbed for a wounded Busquets

BARÇA 3, CHELSEA 0, AKA "MASTER AND COMMANDER"

Shortly after taking part in that thread, I got to thinking about sporting passion, the nature of fandom, and what prevents us from just enjoying something for exactly what it

UMTITI AND THE VALUE OF A DEFENDER

When natural phenomena occur, from something as rote yet amazing as a sunrise, to meteors and volcanoes, people try to explain them with science, try to know the unknowable, rather than just standing back and saying. "Holy shit, Looka that.

FAILURE, CONTEXT AND HOW DID WE GET HERE?

Suddenly Barca wasn't losing fights for the ball. But the biggest difference was playing space. Messi was surrounded as Sevilla was determined to not let Messi beat them. And he did anyway.

LAS PALMAS 1, BARÇA 1, AKA "HAY, LIGA?"

This Barcelona are not the side of 2009-11, nor even the side of 2015, but they do have a happy knack of not losing.

Madrid derby will be scintillating precisely because there is little to play for"

The Madrid derby is rarely short of side narratives, but perhaps the most interesting aspect of this one — the 161st La Liga meeting between the sides — is that it really doesn't matter much on paper.

Ronaldo's iconic overhead kick reveals that, at 33, he's better than ever

As the ball rose, so did Cristiano Roealdo. He turned a little and then jumped — high. His body, sideways on, pretty much parallel to the floor, was more than a metre above the ground when he connected with the overhead kick, left leg.
